DIARIES FOR THE NEW YEAR Good Resolutions for the Twelve

A NEWLY MARRIED MAN JANUARY I, 1877.—Can it be I am real-ly married! It seems a dream.
FEBRUARY I.—Well, this is indeed a reality. And Kate is all a man could wish. It does me good to humor her pretty lit-tle exacting ways. I must interview old Grindem and have my calary raised. A married must expense.

married mun's expenses-MARCH 1.—Kate is a good girl. But these women can't understand how a man these women can't funderatand how a man can't preak offrom all his chume as short—as an icicle. She pouts and cries even in the women gone a month. It does seem a little exacting at times, but Kate, dear Kate, she makes up for everything.

APRIL 1.—We've had our first big quarrel. A man can't be expected to come home from a swell dinner without being a trifle "how come you so." These women see nothing but confirmed drunk-ards, rags, poverty, black-syes, and murder in the inture, because a fellow get sprung occasionally.

MAY 1.—"Spring, spring, beautiful spring," Kate's mother has been staying with us. I miss the pleasant evenings we used to spend alone together when first married. Kate's mother is as good a woman as any mother-in-law can be. But somehow they're together so much and the old lady and Kate are so confidential that it seems to me as it I'd half lost her.

JUNE 1.—Kate's oldest unmarried sister, has been staying with us during the last ter, has been staying with us during the last.

ter, has been staying with us during the last month. It does not seem so pleasant as it used to when we visited places of it used to when we visited places of annusement together. It is a job, any way, to look out for three women. It's expensive, too. Yet for Kate's sake I love my mother and stater-in-law. Nr.—The women all talk as if they were going into the country together. Financially, this seems embarrassing.

Junk 16.—There is reason in all things, but I think a man who jusy for the rent and provisions ought to be master of his own house.

JULY 1.—Women all packed up and gone to the country. Kate's Aunt Jezz-beth as been staying with nt. I've slept for a fortnight on the parlor sofs. It is a relief that the house is empty.

JULY 15.—I meet Mary Holmes every morning now as I walk down town Mary's people were wealthy once. She's a sweet-tempered, pleasant girl. She's keeping Button & Co's books.

AUDIST 1.—Mary and myself were out at the park last night. We have many sympathies in common. She is lonely, poor thing. I wish she could find a friend. I wish.—

Dr. Schenck himself, who enjoyed uninterrupted good health for more than forty years, was supposed at one time to be at the very gate of death, his physicians having pronounced hin too his fate. A REFORMING YOUNG MAN.

JANUARY I.—The coming year I am determined neither to drink, smoke, nor swear. Nor will I use any more siang. It is coarse and impolite. Nor will I eat with my knife; nor make a noise in swallowing my soup. I will attend church regularly. I shall take a Sunday school class. I will not read any light, flashy literature. I am going to study French, German, music, Spanish and Italian. Also speak mildly and politely to my mother, brother and sisters. I am going to rise at five o'clock the year round and bathe in cold water winter and summer. I shall sold late suppers and too much butter. I will not stare at young ladies in the street. I shall join a debating—fociety.—I wish to be un orator and get to Congress. I am going to read Darwin, Sunners and Mill. I will scatched. Attorney at Law. Collections promptly made.
